"CHINA IN FLAMES" AND "SCORCHED EARTH" COMING TO ORPHEUM

Under auspices of the Crows' Nest Pass Chinese Relief Committee, there comes to the local Orpheum Theatre on Easter Monday, April the 10th, the story of China's struggles under the film titles "China in Flames" and "Scorched Earth," thrilling drama of two to three hours duration. It is the story of a young Chinese girl in the pay of the enemy who strive to disrupt the Chinese government and air force.

Don't miss this. It is a story all should see and hear.

The old North West Mounted Police barracks at Pincher Creek was badly gutted by fire last week. The original part of the building was erected in 1876, the logs for which were cut near the present Christie mine.

It is expected that no less than 40 to 50 visiting members of the Order from Lethbridge, Macleod, Granum, Coleman and Fernie lodges will be present to welcome No. 15 back to active membership.

Officers of Granum Lodge No. 109 will confer the initiatory degree of Elkdom on approximately 25 new applicants signed up by Dominion Grand Organizer P. A. Miquelon, who has been in charge of the re-organization during the past three weeks. This will be followed by nomination and election of officers, and these will be officially installed by Dr. A. Irving, D.D.G.E.R. for the Lethbridge District.

John Vaselenak, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Order of Elks in Canada and Newfoundland, will be present, and will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Committees have been active in arranging for the luncheon and program which will follow the ceremonies, and all are looking forward to a very interesting and enjoyable evening.

The Elks' lodge of Blairmore was an active and a predominating factor in the community life of the town some years ago, and it is generally felt that its return to live activity will fill a distinctive need in Blairmore. Mr. Miquelon who has been in charge of the re-organization program here, and whose work takes him to all parts of Canada, will leave for the Coast on Tuesday.

More than 9,000,000 board feet of Douglas fir, pine and spruce timber in the Porcupine hills west of Clarendon, has been purchased by Johnson Brothers, of Macleod, who for years have operated a sawmill on Beaver Creek, six miles southeast of the new timber site.

BLAIRMORE FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

At a general meeting held in The Enterprise office on Sunday last, the Blairmore Fish and Game Association elected a new list of officers, with Norman Oliver as president, Leonard Mark, vice-president, and R. C. Old, secretary-treasurer. The secretary-treasurer's report showed that there were around 65 good-standing members, with prospects for many more. Dues for 1939 are now due and payable by means of membership cards which are 50 cents each, entitling the holder to all privileges excepting special outings or other entertainments, for which the fee will be quite nominal. An executive committee was also appointed. A membership drive it to be undertaken at once, and a successful season is looked forward to. In all likelihood, a snoker will be held before the season opens.

Everyone interested in the glorious pastime of fishing should become members of the club. The more the merrier.

MOTOR TRAFFIC VIOLATORS TO BE BRANDED

Under a new section of the Saskatchewan vehicles act, motorists committing infractions of the act will be issued licenses in various colors.

The general license will be on white paper. After one conviction, the white license must be surrendered for a blue one. If further infractions are committed, the motorist will be issued a red license. If the motorist then has no trouble for a year, he may work back from red to blue, and up the scale again to white.

All revolvers and pistols are required to be registered with the R. C. M. police or town police prior to July 1st. All persons owning revolvers or pistols without serial numbers are urged to mark them clearly for identification should they be stolen or mislaid.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

The United church concert in Cole's theatre on Friday evening was attended by a capacity crowd. Mr. G. E. Guckshank occupied the chair. The opening number of the program featured several selections by Mr. Moffatt's orchestra. This was followed by a song by Mr. W. Williams. The high school girls' chorus rendered several pleasing selections. Frank Hosok rendered a violin solo, followed by the Injia dance by Helen Gregory and Patsy Evans. A period of magic was taken by Mr. H. Harrison. There were Scotch songs by Mr. Hutton, of Bellevue, and a vocal duet by Miss Freda Antrobus, of Coleman, and Mr. George Burles. A sketch by John Brown, Margaret Adlam and Marie Thomas created much mirth. The final selection of the very enjoyable programme was a duet by Mr. Hutton and his daughter Agnes, and a selection by the orchestra.

The Alberta Highway Traffic Board now requires truck owners to carry cargo insurance, and also fidelity bond covering c. o. d. shipments. The rates run somewhat like this: for $1,000 with carrying capacity up to 6,000 pounds, $10; $2,000 with carrying capacity up to 12,000 pounds, $20, and $3,000 with over 12,000 pounds capacity, $30.

"It would be the easiest thing in the world to out-promise the notorious $25-a-month bribe which swept the Social Credit party into power, but such promises would not only be foolish, but actually dishonest," stated J. Percy Page, president of the Edmonton Constituency Association, in an address broadcast last week in the interest of the Unity movement.

PREMIER MAKES STATEMENT

The following statement was issued Friday morning, March 24th, by Hon. W. Aberhart, premier:

"During the past two or three weeks many conflicting and unvarnished newspaper reports have circulated in the province relative to the Eastern Irrigation District, all of which have caused confusion in the minds of the people. We desire at this time to make the whole situation clear, and to deny completely the erroneous report that the Alberta government desires to take over the Eastern Irrigation project. Such an inference is quite contrary to the policy of the government.

"The provincial auditors, in auditing the books and accounts of the E. I. D. found and reported serious irregularities by the manager and the board of trustees in the formation of subsidiary companies as well as in the transactions carried on by these companies since their formation. Acting upon the advice of the law officers of the Crown in respect of the auditors' report, and upon the recommendation of the Irrigation Council, the government has appointed an official trustee over the District in the person of Mr. George Robertson, the present assistant manager of the E. I. D. This arrangement is to continue until an opportunity has been given to investigate the whole situation, after which the water-users of the project will elect a board of trustees to carry on their business.

"The only desire of the government is to discharge its responsibilities under the Irrigation Districts Act, as well as the Eastern Irrigation District Act, and to assist in preserving for the water-users on the E. I. D. those conditions which will prevent that district from becoming a charge on the people of the province as a whole.

"A new manager of the E.I.D. will be appointed by the board of trustees which is to be elected following the investigation. Any announcement that this appointment has been made and approved already is premature and unauthorized."

PROPOSAL TO UNITE FOR PEACE

A meeting of publishers of Canadian and Newfoundland newspapers is to be held in Ottawa on April 24th, at the Chateau Laurier Hotel, to consider a proposition to devise ways and means whereby Canada and Newfoundland can bring about a greater union of English speaking people in the interest of world peace, and a united world peace empire magnum charta.

It is also proposed that the government of the United States of America invite the British Empire to jointly and together establish and maintain "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Man," and that to that end these two governments shall create a world peace commission to determine the wording of the United States-British Empire world peace magna charta under which world peace shall be attained, said commission to consist of 26 members, 13 appointed by His Majesty The King and 13 by The President.

Coupled with this purpose is a suggested flag, embodying the stars and stripes and the British ensign, and a united empire anthem to run:

"Two peoples, by the sea,
Two peoples, great and free,
One anthem raise,
One race of ancient fame,
One tongue, one faith, we claim
One God, Whose Glorious Name
We love and praise."

Peter Bahry, former resident of Coleman, died in a Calgary hospital on Saturday last after a long illness. He was born in Poland and came to Canada fifteen years ago. The remains were laid to rest at Calgary on Monday.

About one thousand attended a service at Drumheller, at which Most Reverend Francis P. Carroll, bishop of Calgary, officially opened, and dedicated the new St. Anthony church on Sunday morning last. Following the service, a public reception was held at the Napier theatre, when an address of welcome to His Excellency was presented by his parishioners.

A delegation of some 25 members, headed by officials of the Browning, Montana, chamber of commerce, waited upon Premier Aberhart at Edmonton, asking for a hard-surface highway from Cardston to the international border a few miles east of Carway, at which a new port of entry was being established. The road would link Macleod with Browning and Helena with a continuous hard-surfaced highway, and would tap the main east-west highway through Browning and route tourists into Canadian parks by a shorter and more convenient route than that which comes either through Glacier National Park or Waterton by way of Pincher Creek.

Senility And Happiness

How to attain a ripe old age and how to be happy though old are twin questions which have assumed greater and more widespread importance in Western Canada during the past 15 or 20 years.

Up to about that time the Canadian west was essentially a young man's country, for, in the main, the west lured young men who were hardy enough to fare abroad and carve out a home for themselves in a new country and what might be termed old men and women constituted a comparatively small proportion of the population.

And even as recently as 15 or 20 years ago the problem of old age and how to make the best of it was one which was not of great importance in the west, for it was a comparatively simple matter then to dispose of the farm or the small town business and move to a more congenial climate to spend the declining years in more leisurely pursuits than wrestling a living at high tension.

For very many who had visions of spending the evening of their life-time under such apparently ideal conditions, these prospects have receded into a dim remoteness as the depression of the past decade overtook the land and deepened with the passing years. As a result there are to-day many who have had to abandon these dreams and are facing the necessity of living out their allotted span where they built their homes and raised their families on the prairies.

For these increasingly large number of pioneers and first generation progeny of original settlers the question, therefore, has resolved itself into that of so ordering their method of living that they will have a reasonable chance of reaching a ripe old age, and its corollary, that of making the declining years a period of happiness and contentment, insofar as environment and conditions will permit.

Intelligence Needed

While the solution to these problems must be determined for each individual by himself or herself there are certain rules of conduct which must be followed if the desired goal is to be reached. Experience and experimentation, aided by science, have revealed that health is the touchstone which alone, barring accidents, will ensure old age, and which is also essential to happiness in the last years of life, and superimposed upon health, is the mental attitude with which the era of the serene and yellow is faced.

"Longevity is partly dependent upon heredity—that is a well established fact. It is equally dependent on environment," was pointed out about a year ago by Dr. C. F. Martin, of Montreal, in an excellent address on the subject of approach to old age in the Eaton auditorium in Toronto.

"And," he added, "as we become more intelligent, we can apply health measures for our benefit. We can look after our diet more intelligently, our functional activities, our exercises and rest, and we can get much from a better knowledge of a properly conducted mental hygiene. With the accumulation of medical knowledge, the doors of opportunity are opened wide."

For the benefit of the aged, Dr. Martin pointed out the necessity of reducing the quantity of food taken, the importance of eating slowly. That was stressed as the first and most important dietary rule for the old, and the second is the kind of diet, and on this subject the few simple directions laid down are worth repeating in Dr. Martin's own words:

"You know already that meats are for the young and starches for the old; that cereals are good, stewed fruits and salads useful and bread still remains the staff of life; that any of the dairy products are the finest old age food; that milk, preferably pasteurized has all the elements needed; that cream cheese is better than Stilton; and that butter, buttermilk and junket are useful. For old people hard-boiled eggs are about as digestible as clay pigeons."

The foregoing diet formula completely vanquishes the argument that the farm is not the place for the aged. It will be noted that all the food mentioned as particularly suitable for the old are products of the farm and the orchard and the best of them, except some of the fruits, are available, or should be on every prairie farm.

Attainment Possible

While exercise, both physical and mental, are essential to a healthy and enjoyable old age, moderation should be the watchword insofar as physical education is concerned. There should be a slowing up of all activities which might be placed in the category of violent exercise, and exercise should be commensurate with the diet.

And mentally there should not be stagnation with advancing years. As Dr. Martin aptly said: "Idleness to the brain means loss of the joy of living, and then one really begins to feel old, and will say to himself 'every day, in every way, I'm getting older, older and older.'"

"There is a contagiousness, too, about old age, a physiological contagiousness, which spreads from one old disgruntled person to another, and for that reason it is particularly desirable that old people mix more with the young."

These guides to old age are not new. They have been said before by many authorities and observers, but they are well worth remembering and following if old age is to be, as it should, an era of happiness and a period full of the joy of life. It is an attainment well within the realm of possibility if the simple rules are followed.

A New Energizer

Claim Made That Connection Of Gelatine Increases Endurance

A new drink that makes men strong was announced at the Long Island College of Medicine.

The drink is about one-third of a cupful daily of ordinary dry gelatine dissolved in orange and lemon juice.

Results, six men doubled their muscular endurance in about a month and a half training at bicycle riding. On women there was no effect. The announcement was made by Dr. G. R. Ray, J. R. Johnson and M. M. Taylor.

It is planned to try gelatine on football players and other athletes in training. The gain in strength in the tests lasted a long time and no bad effects have been found.

The substance is glycine, an amino acid also called gelatine sugar. It has been tried on athletes. Thus Dr. R. M. Wilder reported to the Mayo clinic his tennis game improved after two weeks of taking glycine.

The men, who made the tests, spent three weeks with no gelatine, training daily at bicycle riding, and then failed. In this period the endurance rose 20 to 25 per cent. Then they added the drink—two glasses, each of which contained half of the gelatine ration—and endurance took spectacular jumps.

Experiments showed the orange and lemon juice had no part in the results.

Four women who tried the same daily gelatine, showed no benefits. Unlike the male, feminine muscles cannot store up creatine, an amino acid, natural in the body, whose reaction with phosphoric acid forms the "creatine" that makes muscles contract easily. Glycine causes increased storage of creatine in muscles.

Natives Had Their Turn

Gave Coins To Americans Who Demonstrated New Dances.

For years it has been customary for natives of West Indian isles to put on a dance specialty for cruise tourists. In return, it has been customary for the tourists to shower the natives with coins after the show.

Two American jitterbugs, recently touring the Caribbean, stopped off at Curacao, heard a phonograph playing swing music, and then on impulse, swung into an impromptu exhibition of show, Suse-Q and what have you. When it was over the natives showered the Americans with coins.—New York Post.

BOILED KETTLE WITH OLD CRUTCHES

Once Used Them Because Of Rheumatism

He was not wrong, either—this man who confessed that he would not need his crutches again. Writing of his experiences, he says: "For five years I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains, and I began to think my case hopeless. I had a bad stomach, and I rarely had a meal without my food repeating on me. One day an old friend told me to try Kruschen Salts. So I bought a bottle and gave it a trial."

"After some time I was able to enjoy a good meal and to walk more freely. One morning I got up and lit the fire, and my mother thought I was crazy, because I saved my old crutches up and boiled the kettle for coffee with them. That was six years ago, and I am now back at my old job as a chef."

H.A.B. Do you realize what causes a good deal of rheumatism? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

Composes New March

Toronto Law Student Writes "Welcome To Canada" For Royal Visit

A stirring march, "Welcome to Canada," written especially for the May visit of the King and Queen, will soon be heard at concert.

It was written a short time ago by Fred Evis, a law student at the University of Toronto. The march will be published by the Canadian Music Sales Corporation, and it has been generally endorsed by radio artists and the music profession.

A French version of the composition will be made by an outstanding Quebec radio singer. Evis, who was graduated by Victoria College in 1938, has been requested to revise the song so that it may be used by people in the United States.

Fred Evis is well known in campus circles for his music activities. For several years, while still an undergraduate, he conducted an orchestra, which performed for many university functions.

Pacific Ocean Defence

United Kingdom, Australia And New Zealand To Hold Conference

The United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand shortly will hold a conference on Pacific ocean defence questions, the Dominions Office announced.

The conference, proposed by the New Zealand Government, will be held at Wellington.

The Dominions Office announced: "As result of a suggestion put forward about the middle of last year by His Majesty's Government in New Zealand, which has since been under discussion between the governments concerned, arrangements are now completed for a meeting of New Zealand, the Commonwealth of Australia, and the United Kingdom to consider Pacific questions of common concern, with reference to defence questions."

The United Kingdom representatives will be the High Commissioner in New Zealand for His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, Sir Henry Batterbee, the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific, Sir Harry Charles Luke, and representatives of the defence services.

The post of High Commissioner in New Zealand was created only in July of last year "with a view to ward further development of the system of communication and consultation between His Majesty's governments, the importance of which has been emphasized by successive Imperial Conferences."

Sir Harry Batterbee, who holds the office, has wide experience in Colonial affairs. Before going to New Zealand he was Assistant Under-Secretary in the Dominions Office. He was a deputy secretary at the Imperial Conferences in 1930 and 1937.

Sir Harry Charles Luke, who as High Commissioner for the Western Pacific, will also represent the United Kingdom at the conference, holds the additional post of Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Fiji Islands.

Most Favored Name

List Of Popes Show John Was Chosen 23 Times

The names of the Popes are an interesting study. There has been no second Peter, and the first of the Johns did not appear till 523. No other Apostle appears in the list, though there are several Stephens.

Forty-three names occur only the last of them London (213). John was the most-favored name, but some of the selections were unfortunate, and the line ended with John XXIII (1410). There have been 15 Benedictus and 15 Gregories—London Observer.

Heavy Air Shipment

Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Made in Canada, in three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. All drugists, 40c each.

"Canada's Year"

A Good Year To Visit Canada Either For Business Or Pleasure

So in 1939 more people from the Mother Country would be well advised to visit Canada either for business or pleasure—or, if possible, for a combination of both. They certainly could not do better than follow the example of our King and Queen. Furthermore, the Royal visit may well prove to be an incentive to pay far more heed to Canadian investment prospects than has been the case for the past two decades.

As it is, a tendency is already evident on the part of the outstanding British investors to turn towards Canada, away from the dangers and uncertainties of investment in other parts of the globe. Things being as they are, in Canada and elsewhere, one can quite readily understand their hesitation to send good money after bad to lands which were formerly in favor with investors, such as South America and China.

Whether or not of present evidences of her wealth, of the almost limitless possibilities of development of her resources, or of her natural beauties, we have indeed every reason to look forward to 1939 as "Canada's year."—Canada's Weekly (London).

Helium For Germany

Reported Find Of A Large Supply—That Can Be Used For Zeppelins

Nature appeared to have solved for Germany's Dr. Hugo Eckener the problem of getting helium for his zeppelins.

An authoritative source reported Germany had discovered a large supply of the non-inflammable gas which the United States, with a world monopoly, refuses to sell to the roach, because it might be used for military purposes.

Sir Henry Pellatt Built Church For Toronto's Colored People

Toronto's older colored people remember with gratitude Sir Henry Pellatt, who died recently. During the days of his prosperity he was visited by a colored church elder who asked for a subscription to help build a church.

"How much will it cost?" asked Sir Henry.

The elder mentioned a few thousand dollars as the cost.

Sir Henry promptly wrote him a cheque for the full amount.

Later in life he was wont to recall with pleasure the look of astonished joy that lit up the face of the earnest church member when he realized the amount of the subscription.

How Business Is Created

Live Merchants Must Put Forth Effort To Secure Trade

It is true that business does come as easily as it did in yesteryears, says the Amherstburg, Ont., Echo. People are not spending as they did, and when they do spend they look for the full value of their dollar and are determined to make it go as far as it will. How is business created? In the old days folks dealt pretty much week in and week out with the same merchant. These days are past. People are shopping to-day and looking for values, and as a result those businesses which progress are those which are finding new avenues to bring business to their stores. Do you realize that the live business man of to-day is required to put forth greater effort and to concentrate more than ever if he is to secure trade?

Will Not Last

The Argonaut says Genghis Khan and Tamerlane were great men in their day, but though they swept Asia with their armies, nothing that they did endured. So it will be in the case of Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. They are not building on the foundation of human nature, and their edifice, a Jerry-built structure, will tumble down.

NON-AGGRESSION PACT URGED FOR MAJOR POWERS

London.—The Russian government agreed to join Great Britain and France in an anti-aggression pact, while Prime Minister Chamberlain was telling the House of Commons Britain is determined "by all means in our power" to block Reichsfuehrer Hitler's armed march through Europe. Russia's acceptance of Britain's plan for the anti-aggression declaration left only Poland in doubt among the four major powers sought for the combination.

The prime minister's statement was the strongest he has yet made against Germany's new imperialism, and coincided with Hitler's statement in Munich that he was nearing the end of "reparating the wrong done to us."

Mr. Chamberlain's statement in the house, reported to have been prepared with the concurrence of Clement Attlee and other Labor leaders, contained two major points:

1. Britain has no "no stand in the way of any reasonable efforts on the part of Germany to expand her export trade."

2. Britain is not anxious to establish in Europe ideological blocs of countries "with different ideas about the forms of their internal administration."

The first point was taken to mean the government would not follow the United States action by imposing a tariff or other economic impediments against German goods. The second was believed to be meant as a reassuring statement toward Italy rather than Germany.

Mr. Chamberlain's reference to an ideological bloc of nations was interpreted as a move to moderate Premier Mussolini's speech when he may announce his Mediterranean claims against France.

If it does can be persuaded Britain, France and Russia are not establishing a triple alliance waiting only to pounce on Germany and Italy when the right time comes, he may be less truculent in his language and less sweeping in his demands against France.

Sources close to the government said Mr. Chamberlain was attempting to tell Mussolini Britain is concerned only with restoring German aggression and is not seeking to set up an ideological bloc in competition with the Rome-Berlin axis.

Mr. Chamberlain told the house: "We are solely concerned here with the proposition that we can submit to a procedure under which independent states are subjected to such pressure under threat of force as to be obliged to yield their independence, and we are requested by all means in our power to oppose attempts, if they should be made, to put such a procedure into operation."

For United Effort

Anthony Eden Calls Upon Industry And Man Power To Speed Up London.—Anthony Eden called for a united effort of industry and manpower in Great Britain to back up the government's efforts to create a European anti-aggression front.

"This is no time for halfway measures," the former foreign secretary declared. "As conditions are to-day, every hour counts." Some of his hearers interpreted his appeal as one for compulsory service of men and industry alike in the country's cause.

Mr. Eden, addressing the Association of American Correspondents in London, reiterated his demand also for national unity to speed defence preparations against increasing aggression in Europe.

Spread Of Propaganda

Ottawa.—Propaganda is being circulated in Canada, some of it seeming to express the view of foreign governments, R. H. Ernest, La-pointe, justice minister, told the House of Commons, and it might be necessary at some time to initiate a public inquiry as to source and financial backing of the propaganda organizations. One favorite method of propaganda was to abuse parliament and public men.

Shoe King Of Czechoslovakia Wanted To Evade Nazis

The consul was advised Mr. Bata escaped without taking his wife and nephew.

German seizure of the vast Bata factories marks collapse of one of the world's greatest industrial experiments. At Zlin, in the heart of Moravia, the Bata built a model city where rent was 85 cents a week, meals 15 cents each, and wages three times as high as in any other place in Czechoslovakia.

All houses were built by the company and sold to employees. None had fewer than four rooms, a bath and a garden. On the walls of the Bata factories, where 46,000 workmen labored, were painted the words: "A culture is measured by its bath-rooms."

Will Defend Neutrality

Scandinavian Nations To Safeguard Themselves In Case Of War

Stockholm, Sweden.—The determination of the Scandinavian nations to defend their neutrality, independence and liberty was reiterated by Foreign Minister Rickard Sandler in a speech to the riksdag defending the decision to remilitarize the strategic Aaland islands.

Plans for limited remilitarization of the Aaland islands, which lie in the eastern Baltic between Sweden and Finland, were agreed upon in January between those two countries.

The military measures decided, said Sandler, will permit safeguarding the islands' neutrality in case of war. Sweden and Finland have pledged themselves to reject any intervention of a belligerent power to "protect" the islands, he added.

Musical Festival

Adjudicators Are Almost Human, Says George Dods

Winnipeg.—Adjudicators are almost human when we hear those who really show that "spark of promise," George Dods, British adjudicator, told a Manitoba musical festival audience.

"We forget to write remarks and just want to sit back and listen," he said.

He was commenting on the playing of Miss Elsie Jensen, young Winnipeg violinist, who won intermediate solo competition with a total of 170 marks. "She had a real performer's spirit," said the adjudicator.

The festival lasts two weeks. There are 18,000 entrants competing in 150 classes.

Revival Of Terrorism

Is Seen In Two Recent Explosions In England

Birmingham, Eng.—Two terrific explosions in a parked automobile in a residential street here and in a nearby house shattered windows of homes hundreds of yards away.

Pedestrians were bowled over and bruised and windshields in passing automobiles were smashed by the blast.

Police believed the explosions marked a revival of terrorism by members of the illegal Irish Republican army, who early this year set off bombs in various sections of England and Ireland in protest against English ties with Ireland.

Scotland Yard Officers

Winnipeg.—Five plain-clothes Scotland Yard detectives will accompany the King and Queen when they visit Canada, according to F. W. Abbott, former assistant deputy commissioner of New Scotland Yard, London. Mr. Abbott is touring western Canada to assist Royal Canadian Mounted Police in making arrangements for the safeguarding of Their Majesties.

Ottawa.—A majority of members of the House of Commons civil service committee indicated their approval of compulsory retirement for male employees in the public service at 65 and 60 for females, but decided to let the matter stand until their next meeting.

ATLANTIC COAST DEFENCES WILL BE STRENGTHENED

Ottawa.—To meet just such threats as possible establishment of a German air base in Iceland, the Canadian government will concentrate this year on the development of military airports along Canada's Atlantic coast, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence, intimated in the House of Commons.

Dr. D. J. Hagan (Liberal, Cape Breton South), raised the question when he asked the minister whether air defences on the Atlantic seaboard should not be speeded up "without waiting for any departmental rulings or anything of that sort."

He called attention to the report that Germany is negotiating with Iceland for an aeroplane base on the Atlantic.

I have not seen the despatch to which my honorable friend alludes," replied the defence minister. "But I can assure him that every aggressive step will be taken during this present year for the development of airports on the Atlantic coast."

The minister made no further comment, but it was recalled that plans have already been announced for additional seaplane and land plane bases for Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons in Nova Scotia. Two large, twin-motored coastal reconnaissance flying boats of the Stranraer type have already been sent to Nova Scotia bases and more are under construction at Canadian Vickers works in Montreal. At various points, airports are being levelled, drained and surfaced.

Speaking in the house last Feb. 16, Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, raised the question of an aerial attack on Canada from the Arctic. He quoted an article by Flight-Lieut. A. Carter of the R.C.A.F. in the Canadian Defence Quarterly to the effect that ships loaded with aircraft, equipment and bombs could enter the Hudson Bay via the North Atlantic and Hudson Straits and long-range flying boats could bomb Ontario and Manitoba cities.

Such bombers, said Dr. Manion, might choose such vulnerable targets as the International Nickel Company plant at Sudbury, Ont., and power developments at Niagara Falls and the Abitibi dam.

Military strategists discussed possibilities of invasion from the north with interest. It was recalled that the R.C.A.F. was assembling six Hawker hurricane fighters at the west coast, and these 350-mile-an-hour planes, armed with eight machine guns each, would be stationed on the prairies, available for defence duties on the Arctic coast.

Possibility of a German foothold in Iceland met conflicting opinions. Some quarters pointed out that weather conditions in the eastern Arctic, taking in Iceland, Greenland, Hudson Strait and Labrador were feasible for flying only a short part of the year, and that the climate might constitute an efficient defence for Canada from that quarter.

Should German planes fly from Iceland to North America, the first hop would be 700 miles over water to Cape Farewell, the southern tip of Greenland, but a second base might easily be established there as Greenland is largely under Danish and Icelandic dominion.

The Labrador coast lies 1,450 miles from Iceland, said St. John's, Newfoundland, about 150 miles further on. Sydney, N.S., centre of an iron and steel district, is 1,660 miles from Iceland, about the same distance as Quebec's Gaspe peninsula and St. Lawrence river shipping lanes, Saint John and Halifax lie roughly 1,800 miles from a hypothetical Iceland base.

Industrial centres of central Canada such as Quebec, Montreal, Hamilton and the capital, Ottawa, have a few hundred more miles of security, ranging between 2,000 and 2,500 miles from Iceland.

Orders By Air Mail

Being Received From Western Farmers For New Variety Of Wheat

Ottawa.—Hundreds of orders are being received in every mail from western farmers for the new variety of rust-resistant wheat developed at Indian Head, Sask., experimental farm, agriculture department officials said.

The new variety, formerly known as "No. 975" but recently named "Regent," will shortly be distributed to farmers for use this summer. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, agriculture minister, announced in the House of Commons.

"Regent is not only resistant to stem rust but also to leaf rust and smut." It has been developed to the point where there are about 12,000 bushels available at western Canada experimental farms. After orders are received here the wheat is shipped from the farms to the purchasers. Some farmers are using the airmail to get their orders in quickly.

Indicates General Selection

Definite Plans Of Government Suggested By Finance Minister

Ottawa.—Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, indicated in the House of Commons the government definitely is planning a general election this year.

The suggestion was given as Mr. Dunning spoke in the debate on the Canada-United States trade treaty in connection with free entry of vegetable oils.

Replying to opposition criticism that the government was holding up a report on the subject prepared by the tariff board, the finance minister said:

"Apart from the public grounds which should actuate a minister of finance, I ask, even on low political grounds, whether any honorable member thinks for a moment that I wish to give honorable gentlemen opposite another New Zealand butter issue just prior to an election. Even on low political grounds I would naturally be anxious to have a solution if one is possible."

Mr. Dunning was referring to the Liberal claim that one cause of the party's defeat in the 1930 general election was the fact New Zealand butter flooded the Canadian market.

ALBERTA WOULD EXTEND PROVINCE TO ARCTIC OCEAN

Edmonton.—Voting 56 to 1 with 11 members absent, the Alberta legislature directed the government to open negotiations with the federal government to extend Alberta's northern boundary to the shores of the Arctic ocean.

Alberta seeks that section of the North West Territories lying between the Yukon eastward to a due north extension of the Alberta-Saskatchewan boundary. It would double the size of the province to approximately 500,000 square miles.

The resolution was sponsored by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, and seconded by Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry and provincial secretary. Seven members of the opposition voted with the government in support of the resolution and the only one opposed was John W. Huggill, R.C. (Ind., Calgary).

The resolution declared the area abounded in mineral resources which should be developed for the welfare of the Canadian people and that the topographic features were such as to lend themselves to ready and practically to development only by and through Alberta. It contended Ottawa was too distant to direct development.

The resolution also directed the government to open negotiations with the federal government immediately to extend the province's boundaries as soon as possible "so that transportation facilities may at once be started to open up this vast and valuable area."

Handicaps under which Alberta now operated were cited by Mr. Fallow and in a reference to oil development he said he hoped it would not be long until pipe lines carried oil eastward and westward from Turner Valley oil field, 45 miles south of Calgary.

The people of Alberta were suffering under handicaps that cost them $50,000,000, said Mr. Fallow in declaring trials, adverse freight rates, financial payments, etc., took that much money out of the province annually.

Industrial development was controlled practically by finance and big industrialists in the east, he declared. The west was curbed because of a threat to supremacy that would be created by industrial development in the west.

Grants To Provinces

Ottawa.—Grants-in-aid paid out by the Dominion government to the various provinces from April, 1938, to Jan. 31, 1939, totalled $13,504,348, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons. Payments include, Saskatchewan, $2,080,000; Alberta, $1,250,000; British Columbia, $1,150,000.

Measure Approved

Quebec.—On division, the Quebec legislative assembly has approved a measure to prohibit strikes in any of the province's hospitals or institutions aided by Quebec public assistance funds. The province has similar laws for police and firemen.

Northampton, Eng.—Three Royal Air Force flyers were killed when a bomber crashed near Kettering during a snow storm. The dead are Pilot Officer D. Shine, Sergeant Willis and Pilot Officer H. G. Lewis.

BRITISH GENERAL ELECTIONS NOW LIKELY NEXT FALL

London.—Belief a general election will be held in the autumn was strengthened by a disclosure Prime Minister Chamberlain has written the Conservative party central council making an urgent appeal for funds.

The prime minister's letter, contained in the council's annual report, said:

"I can assure you that more subscribers and larger sums are urgently required both in the country and at the central office, if we are to carry out the desires of the party as expressed in the (Conservative) conference resolution, and if we are to emerge successfully from what probably will be one of the most vital elections which has ever been held in the history of this country."

Mr. Chamberlain made no reference to any date for the election. Most elected Nov. expected it would come in the autumn.

Mr. Chamberlain's letter called attention to the fact Conservative party funds can be raised only through voluntary contributions, while the Labor party has available funds raised through unions and co-operative societies which may be used for political purposes.

Observers suggested the election most likely will be delayed until the fall to enable the funds appeal to take effect as well as to increase the chance that European affairs may be clarified, possibly with credit to the government.

It was observed the government would feel far safer in an election if it could prove the new foreign policy a success and claim credit for soothing Europe's fears and passions.

The present House of Commons was elected Nov. 1935, and could legally last until 1940.

Fight For Italy

Germany Prepared To Support Italy In Fight For Rights

Frankfurt, Germany.—The Frankfurter Zeitung declared that Germany is prepared to fight for Italy's "vital rights" and if Fascist demands in the Mediterranean lead to war Nazis "will be found on Italy's side from the first hour."

The newspaper, speaking out the most firmly for Italy of any organ in the world, controlled Nazis, vigorously denied foreign reports of cooling Italian-German relations.

The newspaper said: "We hope the moral and political appeal which Italy directs to the conscience of the world and will direct henceforth with increasing force and which we Germans support in every respect, will not be ineffective."

Western Agriculture

Must Regain Lost Markets For Wheat In Order To Survive

Brandon, Man.—Western agriculture would retrograde to the level of peasantry if Canada did not regain her lost markets for wheat, Premier John Bracken of Manitoba told members of the Brandon board of trade.

The premier declared agriculture must not be denied the right to adequate adjustments to meet the emergencies it is called upon to face.

"If secondary industries are to be saved from the disastrous effects of the detriment of primary industries, the latter are entitled to equal compensation if equity is to be maintained," he said.

Canadian Exports

United States Was Best Customer During Month Of February

Ottawa.—The United States was Canada's best customer in February, exports to that country amounting to $23,791,322 compared with $17,303,798 in February, 1938, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. Canada's exports to the United States in February were $61,727,338 against $60,152,402.

The United Kingdom was the second best purchaser, taking $22,804,819 worth against $27,544,537.

Australia was third with $2,617,645 against $2,428,068; Japan fourth with $2,243,652 against $2,081,377 and New Zealand fifth with $1,308,117 against $951,845.

THE PREVENTION OF SLEEP-ING SICKNESS IN HORSES

Equine encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness, in horses is one of the most serious horse diseases that has ever appeared in western Canada. The province of Alberta was fortunate in escaping this disease until the summer of 1938, although outbreaks had occurred in Manitoba and Saskatchewan in previous years and had assumed serious proportions during 1937 and 1938. Alberta has, therefore, the benefit of the experience gained in combating the disease in those two provinces.

Should the disease occur in Alberta this year and follow the course that it has taken elsewhere, we may expect it to be of more virulent form and more wide-spread than it was during the past season, when it occurred in more or less restricted areas. For these reasons, it is essential that farmers and horsemen acquire all the information they can regarding the preventive measures that may be taken.

Vaccination has been found to be the most effective method of control. Experiments conducted in Canada and the United States uphold this statement. The administration of vaccine, however, is a preventative, not a cure, and VACCINATION to be effective MUST BE DONE BEFORE THE DISEASE IS CONTRACTED.

The first entirely satisfactory vaccine was developed for use on a large scale in 1938. It is known as "Chick" vaccine and large quantities of it are now available in the prairie provinces under a co-operative arrangement made between the governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the manufacturers—the Lederle Laboratories, in New York, and Cutters Laboratory, in Berkeley, Calif.

Therefore, there is at our disposal a positive means of preventing an outbreak of this disease on a large scale. The price of the vaccine, including the cost of administration, will not exceed one dollar per horse. Therefore, it ought to be possible for the majority of the farmers in Alberta to vaccinate most of their horses. Vaccine properly administered assures protection for a period of six months. Two doses must be given, from seven to fourteen days apart, during the month of April, and will provide immunity until fall. It should be pointed out that two doses of vaccine are necessary for complete protection.

Vaccine will be available at drug stores, municipal offices and from registered veterinarians in Alberta. Qualified veterinarians will administer the vaccine, but in districts where the veterinarian is not available, arrangements have been made for some other authorized person to receive special instructions on the proper procedure for vaccinating animals.

Further information for the prevention of Equine Encephalomyelitis will be gladly furnished. Enquiries should be addressed to the Provincial Veterinarian, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

The family and their guest had just seated themselves at the table. "Sue," said the mother, "why didn't you put a knife and fork at Mr. McArnold's place?"

USING THE NEWSPAPERS

Referring again to the matter of government publicity, we are reminded that the time for re-licensing of radio sets is at hand. If newspaper space were adequately used to inform the public of the fact, we imagine those who have no inclination to evade the law would be more fully instructed and less liable to neglect sending in the fee than under the present system of mailing out notices that too often are disregarded. People nowadays receive so many communications of kind through the mails that are thrown aside without being read that it is no wonder legal action has to be so often resorted to.

We are convinced that the cost would be far less and the result far more satisfactory if the more business-like method of using the newspapers was adopted. It might also prevent not a little resentment on the part of those who later are not only obliged to pay the fee, but in addition a considerable sum in legal expenses. The newspapers would be glad to co-operate with the powers that be, and the saving in cost might be a surprise.—Ex.

Jim's cheques for wheat and beef shipped East have come in and his wife already has a clear-cut idea of how some of that money will be spent.

Part of it will go to the other women and the men who work in Dominion Textile mills, making cotton products, and who buy Jim's beef and the bread made from his wheat. There are 10,000 of these people. They form part of the textile industry, which provides employment for one fifth of all Canadian industrial workers.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS

Work on the new by-products plant at Mitchell has commenced.

John Burton, of Wabunan, succeeds Jack Crawford as mines inspector in Drumheller district.

A special service will be held in Central United church, Blaimore, on Good Friday at 11 a.m.

Billy Evans has returned to Hillcrest from Calgary, where he underwent a minor operation.

The city of Drumheller is still undecided as to whether or not they will handle government treasury vouchers.

Rumor has it that the premises of the former Carl's Cafe have been taken over by Frank Chow, of Cardston.

Rev. E. B. Argol, B.A., was guest preacher at a special Lenten service held in the United church at Bellevue on Thursday of this week.

The Drumheller Miners' hockey team cost $15,989.50 for the 1938-39 season. Their receipts from all sources amounted to $16,761.58.

At the regular Sunday evening service in the Central United church, Blaimore, the junior choir will sing. A selection will also be given by the orchestra.

On Easter Sunday in Central United church, Blaimore, services will be held both morning and evening, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all.

The city of Drumheller is only about five years behind the times as compared with the town of Blaimore. They have just purchased a fire siren, at a cost of some $40.

Able has no doubt studied that scriptural paragraph: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and all the rest will be added unto you" — meaning salary, etc., he takes it.

Miners of the Drumheller district have registered strong opposition to a new bill introduced in Edmonton, Bill No. 63, making new provisions for miners' certificates A and B.

Damage proceedings will likely be instituted by E. L. Gray, ex-manager of the E. L. D. and the deposed board of trustees against Premier Aberhart and Provincial Secretary Manning.

A sad sight was witnessed in Blaimore on Sunday morning. A party of skiers from away out on the prairie, with all their equipment, arrived in town, only to find that there was no snow.

We once heard of a preacher who in the course of a recent sermon chastised his congregation for tampering with gambling. A few days afterwards he was declared winner of a hockey sweepstake.

At the Communion service held in Central United church, Blaimore, on Sunday last, twenty-three persons united with the church on profession of faith. Miss Lena Fraser sang "How Beautiful Are Thy Dwellings."

A large number of Drumheller residents broke even on the chance they took in the Irish sweepstakes. A wholesale refunding of the $2.50 speculation is taking place, as a number of books were seized in the mail and returned to the sellers.

J. H. Ross, provincial supervisor of youth training under the federal-provincial plan, accompanied by Dr. McNally and Louis Pozzi, replacement officer, were in town on Wednesday inspecting the local centre. Mr. Parker has been advised that the local centre will remain open until April 15th, or until further advice from the department.

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Isabella Eleanor Lawrence, of Hillcrest, concluded here on Wednesday afternoon before Coroner F. J. Turner. The jury decided that the woman came to her death from shock and hemorrhage resulting from an attempted abortion. The jury did not name the person responsible for the alleged operation.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS

Because of the general conditions prevailing in Alberta, even the grasshopper population promises to be less this year.

The remains of the late James Johnston, who died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Currie at Erickson, B.C., were laid to rest at Creston on March 17th. He was 80 years of age, and had been in the Crows' Nest Pass since 1897.

The toastmaster at a recent Blaimore banquet grew quite eloquent over the next speaker's many fine qualities. "He attracts to himself both the greatest bores and the most brilliant talkers," he declared. "I have been much in his company."

Season tickets for the nine seasons of the musical festival on May 1st, 2nd and 3rd may be purchased from any member of the committee during April, price $2.00. All tickets unsold must be returned to the secretary before the first day of the festival.

As far as the pheasants are concerned, they can have them; but we this week had the pleasure in sharing a feast on a Hungarian partridge that was killed in November, and never kept in cold storage. Can you beat it? It is absolutely not a fish story.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, B.A., Mus. D., LL.D., Hon. R.A.M., F.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., principal of Toronto Conservatory of Music and conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, very graciously consented to write a foreword for the programme for the forthcoming "Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival."

When The Enterprise placed clean curtains on their front windows last week end, the lighting effect on main street was such as to cause the electric light department of the town council to consider the reduction of one street light. And then, Pete remarks: "Let's all do that and abolish street lights."

Word was received in Fernie last week of the death of Alex. McCool at Vancouver. Deceased was a brother of James McCool, of Natal, and was 58 years of age. He is survived by his widow and several children. Alex. was well known in this district, having for a time resided at Bellevue, Blaimore and Passburg.

With approximately 100 instructors listed, a return brought down by Premier Aberhart disclosed that 4,290 young people in Alberta have been given training under the federal-provincial youth training project. The return instances 599 persons trained for placement and 565 placed in jobs at the end of training. During the 1937-38 year, 41 training centres were organized. This year there will be 49.

From stockyards to beauty parlors is not such a long step in the legislature, where almost anything can happen. So there was nothing surprising in Fred Anderson's introduction of a bill to control the hairdressing industry. Framed along the lines of a ten-year-old British Columbia bill, which was designed to protect the public, the Alberta measure is necessary, in the sponsor's opinion, because, although there are several barber schools in the province where suitable training is available, there is nothing to prevent anyone's setting up as a barber.

Justice in southern Alberta will be tempered with economy, according to an announcement appearing in the Alberta Gazette. Savings in both federal and provincial quarters will be experienced, it is said, through no appointment being made to the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Justice G. W. Green, of Medicine Hat. The remaining four judges in southern Alberta district courts have "satisfactorily discharged all duties of the said court," says The Gazette, so a new appointment is not considered necessary. Federal salary payment of $5,000 a year, and provincial fees running from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, go to district court judges.

FINNAN HADDIE BARBIT

Six slices buttered toast, 1 Canadian finnan haddie, 1½ cups white sauce, 3 tablespoons grated cheese. Add cheese to sauce. Cook finnan haddie in water; drain and spread on toast. Cover with sauce, and add a sprinkle of paprika for good looks. A minute under the broiler is not amiss. This dish must be piping hot.

Sweet Young Girl (in parlor): "Mamma! Mamma! Come here and make Dick stop teasing me!" Mamma (from stairway landing): "What's he doing, dear?" S. Y. G.: "He's sitting on the other end of the davenport."

Travelling clinics, which operate during the summer months in various parts of the province, will concentrate on the dry areas this year, Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross told the house. That the legislature endorses the system of taking medical attention to the people was shown by the vote of $10,255 granted for this purpose—an increase of $5,000 approximately over the previous figure.

We were shown a letter a few days ago, mailed from Montreal to "Thomas H. Duncan, Proprietor, Greenhill Hotel, Blaimore, British Columbia, Canada." And another one from Winnipeg, addressed to "Blaimore, British Empire." Kinda reminds one of a teacher imported from the United States, telling his British Columbia school class that Vancouver was the capital of British Columbia, and Calgary the capital of Alberta.

A man went to see the doctor about a pain in his back, which had been troubling him all day. The doctor examined him, and after a few seconds the pain vanished. The man was very relieved and said: "That's quick work, doctor; was it rheumatism?" "No," the doctor replied. "Your braces were twisted."

Teacher: "Which hand is the Star of Liberty holding over her head?" Smart Kid: "The one with the Star."

UNITY OF CANADA

ALBERTA

..... AND NOW OIL!

★ Canada's strength as a Dominion is built on the strength of her inter-dependent Provinces. Each of them shares in the production of the others; each contributes to the power of the Dominion as a whole.

With over 700,000 people, producing $300,000,000 of wealth every year from agriculture, livestock, mining, trapping, fisheries, manufacturing, exporting some 7,000,000 tons of their products; with some 60,000 miles of roads, with 100,000 registrations of cars—passenger, truck and farm equipment; entertaining some 25,000 tourist cars, and thousands of visitors that come by rail, one would say Alberta is "tops".

But in addition to all these riches—these grain fields, these immense flocks and herds, these mines and plants—new word has come of the Turner Valley Oil Fields, estimated to be the largest in the British Empire.

Potential production of the field is now 18,900,000 barrels per annum. Two new refineries will be built in Calgary at a cost of $2,250,000, and a half million dollars will be spent in additions to an existing plant. The payroll of the Turner Valley Oil Field will approximate $500,000 per month.

The significance to Canadians is that this gift of nature is located within the Confederation of Canadian Provinces—The Dominion—and therefore is one of the assets of the Empire. Alberta is great in her own right, but as one of a united series of Provinces stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific she enjoys the prestige and standing of the Nation itself. Ask for Facts and Figures concerning the Automotive Industries and the work they are doing in Canada, and we will send them.

This advertisement is one of a series dealing with the Provinces of Canada and will appear in many daily and weekly newspapers in the Dominion.

BUILDING CANADIAN MOTOR CARS is a National Enterprise

The establishment of Canada's Automotive Industry has resulted in the creation of a home market of incalculable value to each and every one of the Provinces. The interchange of goods and money can be appreciated when one remembers that this industry alone spends in the Dominion every year on an average of $150,000,000 which finds its way to every part of Canada. In turn, Canadians purchase Canadian-built cars, thus keeping money in Canada and helping employment. No dollar stays where it is made but is distributed gradually to the most remote part of the Dominion. The Automotive Industry is National in purpose and National in scope. When you buy a Canadian-built car, you help your own Province.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Lord Stanley, who died last year, left an estate valued at approximately $10,389,356.

Robert Cruickshank, six years' isolation at a lonely Hudson's Bay Company trading post at Great Whale river at an end, said "it sure feels good to be back in civilization."

The Belgian government disclosed 700 arrests were expected in a vast gold theft conspiracy between negro workers and white traders in the Belgian Congo.

Japanese reported three Chinese gunmen attempted to assassinate Wang Ching-wei, former president of the central Chinese government. Premier Wang escaped.

David Walter Davidson, 53, for the past 24 years warden of Wainwright National park, died in hospital at Edmonton after an illness of three months.

Hugh Russell, 70, believed to have been the only person to copy the entire Bible by himself in England, died recently in Montreal. The copy took 25 years to complete.

The Alberta legislature adopted a motion limiting speeches in the house to 40 minutes except cabinet members, the recognized leader of the opposition or a member making a motion.

Foreign companies carrying on business in Canada will be required to keep records and books of their business in the Dominion for income tax purposes, the department of national revenue announced.

So great was the joy of Hermann Leopold, Viennese song writer, on arriving in the United States, he prostrated himself upon landing and kissed the ground. Leopold spent nine months in German concentration camps.

Old, diseased batteries of Gibraltar are being hastily moved to the mainland for the replacement of anti-aircraft guns. It was understood as the official gazette announced the creation of a special Gibraltar defense force, emphasizing anti-aircraft defense.

Rust Resistant Wheat

New Variety Has Been Developed At Indian Head, Sask.

A new variety of rust resistant wheat developed at Indian Head, Sask. experimental farm will shortly be distributed to farmers for "multiplication," Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, told the House of Commons. Known at present as No. 975, this wheat shows promise of value, having a good head and yielding about 40 bushels to the acre. It came through the rust season comparatively free from damage, Mr. Gardiner said. Reports from the milling were not yet available, but it appeared this experiment was more satisfactory than any previous development.

This wheat seed would be distributed, so long as the supply lasted, at the rate of four bushels each to farmers applying for it to provide a stock of seed for general distribution.

New varieties of rust resistant oats were being distributed to farmers in eastern and western Canada, the minister said. Some research had been undertaken on possibilities of drought resistant wheat, but little progress had been achieved.

Perhaps Mr. Chamberlain's umbrella isn't such a bad weapon as it seems. Some very able lion tamers do their jobs with the aid of nothing more elaborate than a common kitchen chair.

Coal may give heat without being burned. Coal is sprinkled over cotton land in Russia, to absorb heat from the sun and increase soil temperature.

"They tell me he's a wonderful after-dinner speaker."

"Yes, you should hear him argue with the waiter about the bill."

Liquid ammonia will remove rust from copper. Polish well afterward with a good copper polish.

Japan was the only large country increasing the use of American cotton last year.

What We Drink

The Things To Be Seen In A Single Drop Of Water

Dr. George Rosenmetz, by means of his microprojector, has demonstrated what goes on, invisibly to the human eye, in a single drop of water. The result is a considerable enlargement of human knowledge, while not necessarily adding to the comfort of mankind.

By means of microprojectors inhabitants of a tiny aqueous globe are thrown upon a five-foot screen, having attained the dimensions of rabbits; some of them possessing properties and characteristics which no rabbit ever had.

Perhaps it is just as well. In this extraordinary miniature world, of which—except for scientists—we have been almost entirely ignorant, are a vast number of tiny organisms, many fantastically shaped. Some have their own light-giving organs, others resemble pinpoints; still others are as symmetrical and polished as microscopic bits of jewelry.

Tentacles, spines and other equipment for seizing prey which the struggle to survive goes on there, also, on a scale infinitely small. Dark forms fit across the screen, which reveals this world within a world, traversing microscopic seas, whose radiance illumines a zone too small to be seen by man.

Extraordinary plant growths, of cactus-like character, inhabit the unseen water-drop sphere, some resembling those with which we are familiar; others of which the best we can describe, perhaps, as unearthly designs.

It is consoling to reflect that this unsuspected organic cosmos has been in existence for untold ages without any one being the worse. But it may be suggested that if any similar collection of astonishing had been detected in a single sample of the hell-broth decocted in Prohibition, the country would be dry, by unanimous vote, now and forever more.—New York Herald Tribune.

Canadian Iron Ore

Recent Discoveries May Enable Steel Mills To Draw Material From This Country

New possibilities in the development of Canadian iron ore—produced only in small quantity up to now—have been opened up by the Ontario government's recent discoveries at Steeprock Lake, 135 miles southwest of Port Arthur, and by the probability other deposits exist in Quebec's north country.

Geologists reporting to the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Quebec told of what had been found in the two provinces to support the hope the Dominion's steel mills can draw their material from this country.

The convention of more than 1,000 mining and metallurgical experts drawn from coast to coast elected L. Thorne of Calgary as its president at the final session. He succeeded E. A. Collins of Copper Cliff, Ont., who was made the institute's first life member after 30 years in the organization. Mr. Collins is mayor of Copper Cliff.

Gardening

Start Grass Early
Grass grows most rapidly in cool weather. On this account, lawn work of a new or repair nature should be carried out just as soon as the soil is fit to work.

After digging, the ground should be allowed to settle for a few days at least and then leveled again. It is advisable to repeat this process several times. The top soil should then be raked fine and the grass sown at a liberal rate, once across and once lengthwise. This double sowing insures an even distribution. Seed is sown on a day when there is no wind.

For permanent lawns of deep green color and fine texture, good quality package seed is advisable. In covering, the gardener is advised to rake one way only and then firm the soil with a heavy roller or pounder.

Removes Weeds
Unless the ground has been thoroughly cultivated and then allowed to lie idle the year before there is bound to be a good deal of weed seed in the soil. Some of this will germinate after the lawn is sown. Such weeds should be removed constantly, especially in the earlier stages.

Afterwards a good lawn fertilizer every year will push the grass along sufficiently to choke out most of these offenders. The first cutting of the grass is made when about three inches high and should be done with a very sharp mower. Frequent rolling when the ground is soft and regular mowing is advised.

When Soil Is Ready
It is useless, in fact decidedly bad business, to work soil too early. If stirred up when wet it is liable to cake into hard lumps, that will be hard to break down later on. When walking over the garden one's boots become muddy then the time is not yet. Soil of this condition should crumble when squeezed gently in the hand, not compact into a ball.

Competing With The Dogs

Snowplows That Reach A Speed Of 60 Miles An Hour

The husky dogs may as well accept the inevitable. The snowplains, which does everything but fly, is taking their place for ordinary winter travel over the endless drifts in the remote regions of Canada.

If huskies can read signs, they saw their doom all too clearly at Nipawin, in Northern Saskatchewan, the other day. On behalf of local charities, the annual dog derby was held there, but the event that attracted most attention had nothing to do with dogs. No less than fifteen snowplains were assembled to compete in a 25-mile race. Reached a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Against that sort of competition the husky, loyal and invaluable, as he has been in the opening up of the north, is helpless. The snowplains are even superseding the automobile in winter in the work of country doctors, inspectors of lines and other men who have to go places no matter how high snowdrifts are piled.—Winnipeg Tribune.

A Sound Education

Instruction In Citizenship Is Recommended In Report To Manitoba

The advisory committee on youth training, organized by the Winnipeg board of trade, recommended in its report to the Manitoba department of education, that the school curriculum include a sound education in citizenship. The committee is in favor of a democracy rather than for entrance to a university of particular vocations.

"In view of the fact that only about five per cent. of our school children enroll in our universities, it is suggested that less attention be given to university entrance requirements in framing the new courses of study," the report said. It implies that while the university must maintain a proper standard of intellectual capacity for entrance, it will take a more flexible attitude towards subjects accepted for admission.

The committee was formed by the board of trade. It required two years to complete a report on the school curriculum and an occupational survey. The committee also organized a body of business men and labor representatives to assist in running a vocational school in Winnipeg.

SAUL BECOMES A NEW MAN

Golden text: If any man is in Christ, he is a new creature: the old things are passed away; behold, they are become new. II. Corinthians 5:17. Lessons: Acts 9:1-30. Devotional reading: Romans 8:1-11.

Explanations And Comments

Saul the Persecutor, Acts 9:1, 2. "But"—in contrast with Philip's zeal in seeking followers of Christ, told in the preceding chapter—Luke now records Saul's zeal in opposing them. Begins his sentence with a "But". By means of a vivid metaphor, Luke shows us how Saul brought terror to the hearts of those "of the Way"; not called because they were known not only for their belief in Jesus as the Christ but also for their manner of daily living.

The Persecutor Arrested in His Own House, Acts 9:3. Suddenly, as he was approaching Damascus, he was approached by a bright light and heard a voice saying, "Saul, why persecutest thou me?" It was Jesus who he had been fighting against. God, hence Jesus, the earth he tremblingly asked, "Who are thou, Lord?" The answer came, "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest."

"But rise," continued the voice, "and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do." Saul was blind when he arose, and like a little child was led by the hand into Damascus where he remained three days without sight and without food. What a contrast to the Saul, which he had set out for that city!

Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias; and the Lord said unto him, in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here. And the Lord said unto him, Arise and go to the street which is called Straight, and inquire of the house of Judas, for there is a man named Saul, who is praying; and he hath seen a man named Ananias coming in, and laying his hands on him, that he might receive his sight.

Ananias departed, and entered into the house; and laying his hands on him, said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way which thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mayest receive thy sight; and be filled with the Holy Spirit. And straightway there fell from his eyes as it were scales; and he received his sight; and he arose and was baptized; and he took food and was strengthened.

Paul wrote in his letter to Timothy: (Moffatt's translation). "I render thanks to Jesus Christ our Lord, who considered me trustworthy and appointed me to the ministry, though I had formerly been a blasphemer, a persecutor, and a violent aggressor. I obtained mercy because in my unbelief I had denied him three times, and the grace of our Lord flooded my life with Christ Jesus inspire."

Venture Proved Popular

British Boys Keen To Join Air Defence Corps

A new youth movement is sweeping the British Isles. It is the Air Defence Corps. Last summer a civilian airplane, thought it would be a good idea to train boys in the fundamentals of flying. He formed this corps, starting with one squadron of boys from 14 to 19, about 100 boys in the squadron. Now there are 64 squadrons in the United Kingdom and so keen are boys to learn that new units are being formed every day.

The Air Ministry has adopted the movement. It lends the squadrons all the assistance it can. The cadets are taught all the fundamental principles of aviation—airmanship, navigation, radio, air photography. Engines and airplane fuelages, supplied by the Air Ministry, are used for instruction in the maintenance of aircraft and motors. Most of the cadets, so far, have gone into the R.A.F. or into some other branch of flying as they reached the age limit. The popularity of this venture endeared that Britain will have a plentiful supply of keen and well-trained airmen for the thousands of fast new machines that are being produced, and put the country in a position to make the Government's voice respected in the affairs of Europe.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Two Canadian orphans will have the privilege of studying for two years at the expense of the Cuban government, Cesar Ferrer, acting Cuban consul-general, said at Ottawa.

LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST by DR. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

ANGER FROM BURNS

About 45 per cent. of fatal burns occur during the first five years of life. Why is this? Chiefly because of the carelessness of parents, nurses and servants. Three out of five death-dealing burns occur in women and girls. From the fourth to the thirty-fifth year, there is a relatively high death rate in females. Between the ages of five and nine, twice as many girls as boys die from burns. After thirty-five years there is a higher death rate from this cause in men than in women. In old age the rate is again higher in women. Burns in women are more frequent because of the type of dress they wear. These fatalities in women usually occur in the home. They are commoner in winter than in summer.

According to the damage they do, burns are classified into those of first, second and third degree. In burns of the first degree, the skin becomes inflamed and reddened. Except for the pain caused this degree of burn is not very serious. In second degree burns, the skin is red, tender and blisters form. Third degree burns include those of great severity including charring of the skin and deeper tissues.

The danger of a burn usually depends upon the extent of surface skin involved. The simplest and most convenient household remedy for a burn of, say, the first two degrees is the application of a strong infusion of tea. This remedy has been used by the Chinese for 5,000 years. In all cases of any severity the aid of a doctor is necessary, but the use of tea as an emergency measure will relieve the pain and ease the victim of a burn comfortable.

(Editorial note.—Make tea double strength, cool, and apply generously over burn. Soak bandages and keep them so they won't stick. A new form over the wound from the tannic acid in the tea. This tannic acid may also be bought in most drug stores in powdered form and is inexpensive.)

Inheritance Tax

Several States Collect Large Sums From Green Estates

Massachusetts' role in the United States Supreme Court in its contest with three other states over the right to collect an inheritance tax from the $36,137,335 estate left by John D. Green, son of the famous Hitt Green.

Massachusetts claims $4,947,008 of the estate, Texas $4,685,057, New York $5,910,301, and Florida $4,668,257. The Federal Government already has collected $17,520,987.

Born in England in 1869, Green engaged in business and politics in Texas until 1911. Thereafter he lived in New York City and maintained palatial homes at Round Hills farm, South Dartmouth, Mass., and at Star Island, Miami.

He weighed 315 pounds and had a cork leg. He engaged in varied activities, his interests ranging from politics and astronomy to minstrel shows and the private life of the big weevil.

The litigation was begun by Texas, which asked the Supreme Court to determine Green's domicile.

One of the gamiest and bravest of all birds is the humming bird, which doesn't seem to hurt its tiny beak at a hawk, an owl or a crow. And the funny part of it is that most big birds really fear that tiny mite in action.

A man in the company's uniform came up to her, touching his cap. "Beg pardon! Is there anything we can do for you? Would you like a taxi? I mean, where are you going?"

"To San Jose; to Dannavale." She turned round then, coming out of her abstraction, painfully aware, suddenly, of the curious throng. Her face flamed. She gathered up the blanket and shook it and tried to wrap it around her.

"We haven't another plane tonight." "I must telephone my father," Sarah Lynn said. "Where?"

The bride ran after her and caught hold of her arm. "Say, listen, sister," she said in a high, sweet voice, "are you in a jam?"

"I'm quite all right," Sarah Lynn said stiffly.

"Well, is that nice? Throwing you out like a sack of mail? Is that a good old Norse custom?" "I want to telephone—"

"Here—I'll show you." She picked up her glistering train. Sarah Lynn followed her. "Is this Fresno?"

"Well, for Pete's sake! Didn't you know where you were landing? Yes, this is Fresno, and here's your booth. I'll wait for you."

"Thank you," Sarah Lynn said coldly. "It's not necessary." She looked fully at her for the first time and took in the details of white satin and flimsy veil and orange blossoms.

"I mustn't keep you from—"

"Oh, that's all right!" she said excitedly. "It's just one of my wedding! Married in Hollywood, and flying to Fresno and set the ship down to say hello to a bunch of nit-wits. Go ahead and telephone your folks." The young man had followed them and he said something to her in a low tone. She nodded. "Don't shut the door, dearie—you'll smother in that box. I'll stand right here."

The youth lit a cigarette and strolled away, but kept within hearing distance.

"I want Dannavale 3704. Yes. It's a suburb of San Jose. I want to speak to Mr. Dana—Mr. Edwin Lynn Dana."

There was at once panic and reassurance in the sound of her father's voice, thick, drowsy, amused. "It's Sarah Lynn. I'm at Fresno, Fresno, Fresno. Why, I flew down. With Gunnar Thorwald. What? I don't know where Duncan is. Oh, Dad, please—I'll explain everything when I get home. How can I get home? I haven't any money." She was silent, listening. "Yes, at the Fresno airport. Shall I wait here? What? All right. Yes, the California hotel and ask for Mr. Pond. How soon can you get here?—Tell Mother not to worry, please! I'm perfectly all right. Yes—I understand—Mr. Pond, California hotel." Her voice, thin, strained, hoarse, warmed suddenly. "Oh, Dad, it was glorious—glorious—yes. Good-by."

The young man came close to her, speaking with controlled excitement. "You're Miss Dana? From Dannavale? I used to work on the newspapers in San Jose. You flew down with Gunnar Thorwald? Well, of course you did," he grinned, "but what I mean is, weren't you going all the way to Glendale with him?"

"No," Sarah Lynn said briefly, aware now of the avid curiosity in his gimlet gaze.

"Isn't it a fact he vowed he'd never take a woman up in his ship?"

"Yes."

"And then he kidnaps you in a blanket and—"

"He did not," she defended him about the forerunners, thin figure. "Lay off the interview, Basile! Isn't it a girl's privilege to get out and walk home when she wants to? Probably the Great Dane got a little too primitive and she—"

"It wasn't his fault! I told you it wasn't his fault!" She walked away from them, her blanket spreading out behind her like a train, and spoke to the uniform attendant.

"I want a taxi, please."

"Wait!" the bride ran after her. "There's a flock of cars here. I'll have somebody drive you. Look—I'll come with you myself!"

"Please don't trouble," Sarah Lynn was rigid. "I want a taxi, please."

"No trouble, lambie! Hi, Larry!" she hailed the groom. "Listen—"

"What's that?"

"I want to telephone—"

"Here—I'll show you." She picked up her glistering train. Sarah Lynn followed her. "Is this Fresno?"

"Well, for Pete's sake! Didn't you know where you were landing? Yes, this is Fresno, and here's your booth. I'll wait for you."

The instant they were out of hearing the youth flung himself upon the telephone and shouted a number.

"Hello! Nicky! Ray! Hello, just in the nick of time! Listen! A number!"

"The of cars back and listen! A number! Ready? Gunnar Thorwald, Norwegian ace, who has just from the Atlantic, and who has taken a vow never to fly a woman in a ship, set the Hermod down at Fresno at 2:45 a.m. and unceremoniously landed Miss Sarah Dana, of the famous Dannavale colony, exclusive suburb—"

"—he drew a reviving foot and her n'th bridegroom!"

The big and beautiful body of the Hotel Californian was dimly lit, and the exultant Regency cocktail room was asleep, but the man behind the desk was wide-awake and cordial.

"Why, hello, Miss Medill!" Then he laughed. "Beg pardon! I mean, Mrs. Van Dalton?"

"Old stuff, big boy. Don't you ever read the papers? Sure, I'm another bride. I checked the groom out at the field while I brought you a customer. This is Miss Dana, from up north. She was flying to Los and changed her mind, and she wants to stay till her folks come for her. Make her comfortable, will you?"

"Gladly!" His puzzled gaze went from her bridal finery to Sarah Lynn's blanket. "Will you register, Miss Dana?"

A buzzer sounded behind him and he turned to answer the telephone. "Yes, Mr. Pond?"

"Just arrived this minute. Very well, Mr. Pond." He turned back to them. "Miss Dana, your father telephoned. Mr. and Mrs. Pond will be right down. Won't you have a chair?"

"Then everything's a-OK, and here goes the bride!" She waved aside Sarah Lynn's stammered thanks with a heavily jeweled, well-decorated hand which was slightly grimy.

"You tell your Big Swede I don't like his fireman's hat! Tell him all the regulars over here wear boudoir caps. Give her a comradely hug. 'Don't let it get you down, dearie! By!' She spread out her satin train, dropped her eyes with maidenly reserve, folded her hands and went out of the lobby with slow and timid steps, balancing uncertainly on the balls of her feet at every pace, humming, tenderly, "Here comes the bride—"

The hotel man and his wife came hurrying down immediately, and he, too, was concerned. Mr. Pond understood perfectly: her father had explained the situation and asked them to make her at home until he arrived. It was a privilege, and of some slight service to her father's daughter.

Sarah Lynn felt that Mr. Pond understood even more perfectly. She was again hospitable, but her shrewd, bright eyes were evaluating the frowzy hair, the bedraggled dress, the blanket. "I'll make you a cup of chocolate, and you must have a good hot tub."

"And a sound sleep," her husband added. "Your father can't make it under four hours, so you must just relax and be comfortable."

Dannavale rang and rocked with Sarah Lynn's exploit. Mary Dana Webster went at once to the parson and stated her firm conviction that the child had been drugged, but Arline said out of their questioning like quicksilver.

The nonpareil summoned Sarah Lynn. "Your Great-Granny wants you should come over, quick! over you can get here," the flocks of Emma Waters, the maid, stated over the telephone.

The girl set out at once, the greyhound flashing on ahead. Lightning was a voice in the first very vocal days of Dannavale's disapproval.

The matriarch was chirping and cackling with excitement and approval. "Well, I declare, Sarah Lynn, you didn't up'n put out same's I did. Crawled into the spot's machine and hid just like I did in the covered wagon! Don't surprise me a mite! Proud of you. And I'd admire to meet your beau sometime. You'll fetch him over to see me, Sarah Lynn."

Her great-granddaughter cringed. "Great-granny, he isn't at all! He despises me. You don't understand. He's furious because—"

"Oh, well, now, don't you let the ancestors comforted her. "Your Great-granny was kind of like that, first off. Some are. Thought they'd ought of sent me back and was real harsh in his talk, but later he came round in no time. You'll see!"

Sarah Lynn went upstairs where her Cousin Sally Ann was having tea with her Uncle Lynn. They were the most satisfactory of all her adherents.

"After all, it was a gorgeous adventure," the travelling clanswoman said. "At your age I'd have adored it."

"I did," Sarah Lynn said quickly. "Do. Only—the way it happened—"

Lynn Dana said, "I've just remembered a chap I know rather well, an airman, Conrad Jordan. He's undoubtedly met this Gunnar lad, or he will, and I intend to see, Sarah Lynn, that he gets the truth."

She flushed hotly. "Oh, that's good of you, Uncle Lynn, but you mustn't bother. It wouldn't make a bit of difference to him. I mean—he has such contempt for—for everybody mixed up with it."

"When you come abroad with me we'll do a lot of flying, Sarah Lynn," the older woman said. "I like it enormously. The glamour never goes out of it for me."

They were casual, comfortable; Sarah Lynn stayed on and on, listening while they talked to each other. She walked home in the dusk with her greyhound pacing demurely beside her.

She found the old governess reading ardently, with four library books open about her.

"I'm just refreshing my mind a bit on Norse history and legend, my dear," she greeted her charge, lifting pale, protuberant eyes. "I was rather rusty, so to speak. Quite marvelous people, the Norwegians. Vikings, voyaging all about Europe, conquering lands, annexing. Women and children went along to the wars, you know, Vallant, but hard, they were. Listen to this bit!"—she lifted a worn volume of history—

"The early Norsemen had a keen mind, but his heart was as much steel as his sword; he loved battle and stormy seas; he admired the brave, the clever, the strong; for the weak he felt he had no interest, for the suffering no sympathy; the weak he despised."

"Yes," said Sarah Lynn. "I know."

Were Seeking Oil

But Scientists Discovered River of Hot Water in Tasmania

A river of hot water has been discovered in the North-East of Tasmania by a party of scientists from the Tasmanian University, who set out to seek or oil deposits in the Scamander River.

They disproved the oil theory but came across a thermal area extending over a quarter of a mile in the river.

About 250,000 gallons of hot water were found with temperatures which reached 93.5 degrees at the warmest spot.

The phenomenon is believed to be caused either by the fact that the rocks are hot beneath the bed of the river or by the presence near by of a subterranean river. — The People, London.

Best Talker, Worst Flyer

Orville Wright was reproached for not taking up the challenge of the Smithsonian Institution that it was the best talker of the Wrights, who were the first to fly.

"The trouble with you, Orville," said a friend, "is that you are too taciturn. You don't assert yourself enough. You should press agentize more."

"My dear friend," Orville Wright answered, "the best talker and the worst flyer among the birds is the parrot."

Always Agreeable

Lord Charles Beresford told in his memoirs the story of an old Irish gamekeeper, who always agreed with everything that was said to him.

One day, on a fine day when the wind was blowing a gale, Lord Charles said to him: "It's a fine, calm day to-day."

"You may well say that, Lord Charles," replied the gamekeeper, "with hearty acquiescence, 'but what little wind there is in terrible strong.'"

Was Clever Financier

Widow Of New York Publisher Carried Huge Sum In Paper Bags

Strange tale of Manhattan folklore and legend lies behind a simple notation which appeared on a calendar in the Court of Surrogate Judge James Foley—a notation on the contest over distribution of $377,000.

Seven years ago, Mrs. Ida Wood, "the little widow of Herald Square," died at the Herald Square Hotel, New York, where she lived a recluse in the midst of a great city. She was a little, wizened woman, with a genius for finance and a penchant for carrying fabulous sums in paper bags hidden in the folds of her prim skirt.

Her hoarded fortune was found in her apartment after she died. Her estate named two beneficiaries who had died before she died.

Claimants to her wealth immediately appeared in all parts of the globe. There were 1,107 of them originally, but hearings and investigations have narrowed the field down to 22 individuals in these estates.

Mrs. Wood, the widow of Benjamin Wood, publisher of the old New York Daily News, was a reigning figure in the colorful social life of the 90's. After the death of her husband in 1900, she forsook the brilliant life she had always led and decided to carry on her husband's business enterprise.

With the acumen of a Wall Street genius, she preserved the fortune left to her and gradually added more and more.

The bulk of 1907 left her distrustful of banks. She had disposed of full of bank. She had disposed of many of her holdings before the crash came and she avoided serious loss, but she retired from the business world, just as she had retired from the social sphere some years before.

Few persons saw or heard of Mrs. Wood for many years. In 1931 it was discovered she was living at the Herald Square Hotel, and had not stirred from her apartment in 30 years. She lived there alone surrounded by souvenirs and reminders of other and happier days.

A court declared her incompetent to manage her affairs. Her estate, named to care for her, revealed she had carried $300,000 in $1,000 bills concealed in paper bags in the folds of her skirt for many years. She was said to have made a trip through Africa with $700,000 in brown paper bag tied night and day to her wrist.

Light On Controversy

Contents of Letters Between British And Arabs In 1915 Revealed

Light has been thrown on the 24-year-old controversy between the British Government and the Arabs over the promises alleged to have been made to the Arabs when Britain's Lawrence of Arabia was encouraging them to revolt against the Turks during the World War.

The publication in English of letters which passed between the British and the Arabs in 1915 has now revealed their contents. They were written in Arabic, but the Arabs, in connection with the decision with the conference with the Jews and the British Government in London, had insisted that the letters be translated and published.

The letters were exchanged by Sheriff Hussein of Mecca and Sir Henry McMahon, First High Commissioner to Egypt.

The first letter, from the Sheriff, invited Britain "to acknowledge the independence of Arab countries" in the Arabian peninsula and mentioned the Mediterranean as the western boundary of that area.

Successive British Governments have maintained that Palestine was not included in the area. No official British view has been stated since publication of the correspondence but it was believed both sides still held their original conflicting views.

Much of the difficulty about the letters comes in the fact that the originals were in Arabic and were difficult to translate. Besides, Palestine was not mentioned, as it did not exist under that name at the time of the Anglo-Arab negotiations. At that time, the Holy Land was divided into administrative units known as sanjaks.

The letters threw little new light on the dispute as to whether McMahon included Palestine in his bargain with the Arabs, but they confirmed the belief that the late "Lawrence of Arabia" had been pictured as a romantic hero of the desert, was a clever British paymaster and instigator among the Arabs.

Perhaps the most interesting aspects of the McMahon letters is the frankness about British payments and supplies of arms and ammunition to the Arabs. The letters give the impression that Hussein had only to ask, and he received it. The correspondence is also remarkable for the unctuous quality of the salutations and greetings which passed between two "rulers."

Experts agree that the outbreak of this disease is likely to reach its peak in Alberta this summer.

VACCINATION
is the only recommended preventive treatment.

PROCEDURE

1. Vaccinate all horses with "Chick" vaccine during the month of April.
2. Two doses of vaccine are required, given from seven to fourteen days apart.
3. Vaccine is available at drug stores, municipal offices and from qualified veterinarians. Cost for both doses—75c.
4. A qualified veterinarian, or if one is not available, some other authorized person should be obtained to administer the vaccine.
5. Farmers wishing to do so may vaccinate their own horses.

Warning!
Vaccine is effective only when given prior to outbreak of the disease.
